PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Front End Developer | lomi.cl

December 2022 – now

I work as a professional remote developer for the Chilean company Lomi.cl, contributing my advanced knowledge in the entire Angular ecosystem, creating software tools to guarantee the proper functioning of your online store. Among my contributions are included: the complete creation of a statistics page for investors, login forms and management of session tokens, improving the visual section of the mobile app, bug fixes, and connection and management of server data .

Freelancer

2021– 2022

I worked as a freelance developing the design frontend and backend of web pages sporadically. I learned a lot launching real projects, not only about tools and development knowledge, but also communication skills and time management.
